

Asghar-Qureshi: A Hero of the Nation

In this world, humans are born, live their lives, and then leave for their eternal life at their designated time. But there are a few people who leave an indelible impression upon the hearts and minds of humanity. Such individuals are the true heroes of the nation who have accomplished something extraordinary in their lives. Among them is a person who never let his accidental disability get in the way—the high-spirited, "one in a million" Mr. Amjad Siddiqi, who moved forward with sheer hard work, steadfastness, and lofty courage. As a patriotic Pakistani, he illuminated the name of Pakistan across the entire world through his achievements. This resolute person, whose lower three-quarters of the body became completely numb and lifeless due to an accident, made the wheelchair his permanent support, yet he never allowed this disability to overpower him. With great skill, he established various types of businesses and became a source of support for countless people. Such personalities are true national heroes and assets of the nation. He established various types of businesses under SAGIA (Saudi Arabian General Investment Authority). He not only served as a President in PIF during a valuable Tenure ship, but also became an Executive Member. He regularly participated in meetings of the Pakistan Investment Forum to give major asset stabilization advice to the country. Furthermore, in the Pakistan Investment Forum, through the mediation of the Pakistan Embassy Riyadh, the Government of Pakistan was recommended to award this high-spirited individual and personification of humanity the Nishan-e-Imtiaz or Sitara-e-Imtiaz for his exceptional services. May Allah keep him protected, alive, and Motivated. Such people are truly the pride of the nation, assets of Pakistan, and elements of support for humanity. Long live Pakistan.
