

sajid-Khokhar: A classic piece!

Amjad Siddiqi is my relative. Long before meeting him face-to-face, I became familiar with his family. There used to be discussions in the family about how an extraordinary accident in Saudi Arabia had affected his life, yet despite this physical disability, he remained active. Naturally, whenever he was mentioned, a sense of respect for such a high-spirited person arose in my heart, along with a desire to meet him. During this time, I had the opportunity to read some of his interviews, which shed light on his soul-stirring life and painful past. Anyone can see how, despite physical disability, he achieved the dreams of sitting on a wheelchair and touching the heights of skies. I had the opportunity to meet Amjad Siddiqi sahib at a time when he was fully mature. I found him to be a person of firm determination, resolve, and high spirits. I saw him stand tall like a rock wall against immense difficulties. During my meetings with him, I felt that he is filled with gentleness, sophistication, and a deep love for humanity. He is a sympathetic, sincere, and sacrificing person. When he started his own business after leaving his tough banking job, he achieved great success there as well. Through his God-given abilities, he took his business to its peak. In such a situation, he did not limit himself to just public service but started welfare and relief work for the disabled and poor in a systematic manner. He traveled to 52 countries for tourism. Every step of his life is filled with full, positive, and useful experiences. Whenever I am in contact with him, he fills me with a renewed energy, and I feel that he has long moved past his major accidents. It feels essential to write about such a high-spirited person so that people can read about his life struggle and learn how to navigate through difficulties to achieve success. This book is filled with events at every step, from which we all can draw lessons of firm determination and courage. He has written his life story with extreme simplicity, and the story has a deep impact. I hope and believe that readers will learn positive lessons from his life. Amjad Siddiqi has written his book of life to show that creation belongs to God, and human beings should practice peace, trust, and gratitude to make their lives meaningful. I pray for his further successes and also say this: He is a beacon of light for all of us.
